BI Solutions, Inc.'s New Owners Continue Efforts to Advance
Data-driven Analytics and End Data Anarchy Everywhere.

After nearly 16 years at the helm of BI Solutions, Inc. Erica Bryce will step down on October 31, 2019 as President of BI Solutions in order to focus on real estate interests.

Long-time employees, Teresa Lanza and Scott Armentrout, have purchased the company. Ms. Lanza, formerly the Director of Operations, will be the majority owner and assume the role of President. Mr. Armentrout, formerly the Director of Business Intelligence, will continue to be the company's technical lead.

Ms. Lanza states, "Scott and I intend to build on past successes and launch renewed efforts to advance data-driven analytics and end data anarchy everywhere." Mr. Armentrout concurs, "In many institutions, data anarchy is undermining the value of data analytics. Our goal is to provide pertinent data analytics while eliminating data anarchy across the enterprise".

The BI Solutions team architected the award-winning NAVSUP WSS LOGCELL project. Their successful technical implementation and innovative ideas were instrumental in the LOGCELL project receiving the Admiral Stanley R. Arthur Award in 2017, recognizing leadership in logistics planning and execution. In 2018, LOGCELL was also awarded the DoD Award for Supply Chain Excellence.

BI Solutions, Inc. is a certified woman-owned small business enterprise specializing in data warehousing, enterprise reporting & data analytics for state and federal government, higher education, and private industry. More information can be found at www.BISolutions.net.
